BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COMMITTEE ON RULES OF 1 MINA'TENTAN DOS NA LILIKAU TURAAN GUAMAN:

WHEREAS, for many years, the U.S. government provided free hospital and health care services to the people of Guam. The U.S. Naval forces assumed responsibility for the island’s medical needs in the years of the twentieth century when the United States took formal possession of Guam. These services continued with the U.S. Navy’s delivery of health care after World War II, and were consonant with the purpose of the GMHA facility to the government of Guam’s Department of Public Health and Welfare. The two hundred thirty-three-bed hospital assumed acute-care, psychiatric and long term care services; and

WHEREAS, in 1979, the local and federal government’s plans to replace the rapidly deteriorating Guam Memorial Hospital Facility began to take root. The U.S. Department of the Interior purchased and transformed the former Medical Center of the Mariana Islands to the government of Guam as the new Guam Memorial Hospital Facility; and

WHEREAS, the Medical Center of the Mariana Islands facility was initially constructed by the Catholic Diocese as a private maternal-child health facility. Financial difficulties, however, prompted the Catholic Diocese of Guam to consider the sale of the facility to meet the government’s need to replace its old facility at Tumon Bay; directly above the Hilton Hotel in Tumon. Along with the funds for the initial purchase of the facility, federal funds also were provided for the expansion of the facility to allow for the consolidation of all services on a single campus; and

WHEREAS, Congress, Guahan Congress, the Governor's Secretary of the Board, and the Board of Trustees, in its 1979 Resolution, approved the proceeds from the sale of the former Guam Memorial Hospital of the Mariana Islands to the government of Guam; and

WHEREAS, on June 1, 1987, GMHA completed the construction of its new Skilled Nursing Facility in Barrigada Heights, with a capacity of over one hundred beds; and

WHEREAS, although GMHA has had its initial accreditation as the early 1970s, it was able to renew its full accreditation in 2010 by the Joint Commission, a nonprofit organization that accredits hospitals worldwide. The accreditation does not include the off-site Skilled Nursing Facility, which is a long-term care program that meets standards accreditation standards; and

WHEREAS, GMHA extends its deepest appreciation to all the patients and their families, to vendors and hospital stakeholders, our island leaders, and the hospital staff and management who over the years have provided their own special way the inspiration, dedicated work, funding, resources, companionship, ingenuity and the collective will to achieve fifty years of quality patient care in a safe environment; now therefore, be it
